DUNMORE.

John Kelly and James Munley, two aborers at No. 1 shaft of the Pennsylvania Coal company, were hurt by roof shot yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Both were badly cut about the face and breast, and owing to the close proximity of the charge it is miraclous that both were not killed instantly. They had placed a charge in a hole which they had bored in the roof and were tamping it with a bar used for that purpose, when by some unknown means it went off and both wer hurled to the floor of the chamber with the debris. They were conveyed to their homes, where Dr. Garney attended them. At last reports both were in a comfortable condition and hopes of their recovery are entertained.

Takes I-sue wi h Dr. Robinson.

Editor of THE T IBUNE: DEAR SIR:-In the sermon which the Rev. C. E. Robinson preached on Sunday Hev. C. E. Robinson preached on Sunday evening last, on woman suffrage, he views the question as men in all past ages have done, viz.: from the conditions which man himself has made. Did the same circumstances surround all women as envirous the favored few who make up the large portion of the reverend gentleman's congregation, there might be no reason why the subject should be considered in any other light. the subject other ligut.

But do men always, even in the household, do the digging and the delving? Are women given only that work for which they are best fitted? In the household economy of the laboring or lower classes economy of the laboring or lower classes are women always given the lighter and easier tasks? And pray who instituted the division of labor which has been the rule through the past ages? Has not man always taken unto himself that portion of work which he chose and which pleased him and left to woman whatever he might not care to be troubled with? Has this distribution of labor always been the same in all countries? To-day in some parts of Germany and South Africa you may see the woman harnessed to the plow along side of the horse or ox. Does man there consider her the weaker vessel, there consider her the weaker vessel, "the delicate, exquisite vase which may be home such as would insure its safety and protection? Would not her responsibilities really be lessened. One-half the energy expended in striving to overcome the ex-ecrable conditions under which "man

And do not "good" men in these states hold the humblest and poorest woman in just as true reverence? We point the reverend gentleman to the history of Wy-oming and North Dakota for an answer. But then all men are not good men and just because of this comes in the resi necessify for woman suffrage. Woman needs protection much more than adora-

If the ballot in the hands of a man is a protection to him against evil men and unjust laws, would it not effect a like purpose for the woman had she the right to its use? Will the sons of such mothers to its use? Will the sons of such mothers as may be able to teach their children in regard to the political, as well as the social problems of the day, be worse citizens because they have received their political training at the hands of a pure, true woman? Should not such training be infinitely preferred to that which is given by desiring damagness, and politicals. finitely preferred to that which is given by designing demagogues and politicians? What does Mrs. Humphrey Ward mean when she says: "We are convinced that the pursuit of a mere outward equality with fine is not only vain but demoralizing?" By "outward equality" does she mean the donning of male attire, the smoking of cigars, or the hundred and one manly folbles which males are wont to indulge in? If this is what she means then we quite agree that it is not only "vain but demoralizing," and that it would "lead to a total misconception of woman's true dignity and special mission." If she means that the power to cast her If she means that the power to cast her vote into the ballot box would so unsex her as to leave her no longer the form and likeness of a woman, we take as much ex-ceptions to her statement as the reverend gentleman would profably do to her the-ology. Mrs. A. F. Yost.

Woman has managed the home and reared the children, because she could do that best, but does it follow that she would perform these womanly duties less faithfully had she a voice in the making of the conditions of government under which she and her children must live? Would she not rather feel more pride and pleasure in the performance of those homely duties, knowing that she had it in her power to aid in making all the conditions outside of that home such as would insure its afety and six children to mourn her loss.
